Dear Mr. Selby

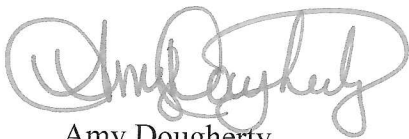

I have returned home from the National Jump$tart Conference in Washington DC with a renewed energy to teach Personal Finance again. To say that I left the conference with a plethora of new ideas is an understatement.

Living in very rural south-western Minnesota, my students have very little opportunity to be exposed to the kind of ideas that were presented at the conference. Our school is quite literally surrounded by corn fields and the nearest Walmart is in a town 45 minutes away. Many of our students pursue a higher education at nearby 2 and 4 year colleges and it gives me great pleasure in getting them started down the path of education by exposing them to financial ideas.

I want to sincerely thank you for the opportunity to attend the conference. Personally, it was something I appreciated thoroughly due to the exquisite hotel and conference center and educational speakers and material presented to us. What a lovely venue. It made this rural Minnesota teacher feel quite special.

Again, thank you for the opportunity to attend the conference. I looked for you at the opening get-to-gather but unfortunately could not find you. Thank you for reaching out to me however. I hope to see you in Atlanta.

Thanks again
